

The Village Pantry

Reader's Choice 2005 Winner for #1 BEST BRUNCH/BREAKFAST

No meal is more civilized than a proper Sunday brunch; however, it takes far more than just good ingredients and skilled technique to pull off a memorable breakfast/lunch blend. Brunches are meant to be savored—enjoyed bite by bite, down to the last drop of maple syrup and bottomless cup of coffee. And because brunch is a meal to relish in, the setting has to be just right—unhurried, pleasant and homey. The Village Pantry in Los Altos covers all the bases on the proper Sunday brunch, and has been voted as the 2005 Best Breakfast/Brunch Restaurant in our Reader's Choice poll.

Since 1949 the Village Pantry has been serving the Peninsula's discerning diners breakfast and lunch in this charming dining decorated with photo collages of loyal customers. Last year Daily News readers voted the Village Pantry as Best Burger Restaurant, and this year the Belgian waffles, French toast and creative omelettes won the hearts of our readers again. Owners David and Julie Ogilvie have kept the restaurant's original appeal by ensuring that customer service, good food and a family-oriented atmosphere are at the heart of this great American restaurant. They have added to the overall brunch experience by offering unexpected indulgences such as Eggs San Francisco—a toasted English muffin, crabmeat, Swiss cheese two poached eggs topped with hollandaise sauce. Brunch at the Village Pantry is like being invited into the home of a good friend for a leisurely meal—relaxed, delicious and satisfying.
